The best strengthener of mind and body is Brown's from Bitters. It is very spothing and refreshing in its effect.

We are sorry to state that the en-deavor to have a fair in this city the coming fall has proved a failure. Every effort has been made by the more enterprising portion of our people to se cure enough interest in the matter to any encouragement from the business portion of the community, and their ef portion of the community, and their ef-forts have gone for nothing.

All preliminary arrangements had been made for the fair, premium lists printed, a good lot of premiums and special premiums offered, and all that was lacking to complete arrangements was the sum of $2,500. A committee of our most prominent citizens was ap-pointed to solicit subscriptions, and instead of our business men coming forward and subscribing the amount, all the committee could raise in the city of San committee could raise in the city of San Antonio was the pitiful sum of $100. It is a shame and disgrace to our city. We have tried hard to make ourselves and others believe that there was some enterprise in this city, but we have to give it up. If the merchants of this city cannot afford to give $2,500 to an enterprise that will make them five times that are not also as a context of the city cannot afford to give $2,500 to an enterprise that will make them five times that amount of money, the sooner, the people of this city cease to make any efforts for advancement the better,

There seems to a feeling of pitful jealousy existing between our, business men-one fearing another will make a dollar more out of the fair than he will and rather than have such a thing hap pen, he would squeich the whole thing This is the "dog in the manger" f-cling which precominates in this community, and San Antonio will never amount to anything so long as such a feeling exists

The above, which we clip from the San Antonio Times, would seem to indi cate that even "the largest city in Tex as," in the midst of its greatest "boom" is not entirely lovely or happy.

Handy Hints For The Housekeeper.

BY B. J. BURDETTE. A perplexed housekeeper wants to know what she she shall do with the in cans that from day to day accumulate about the house-fruit cans, meat cans of all kinds, cans, cans, and a thousand cans, Well, if you keep a boarding house, you might throw them out in the street, right in front of the house, as a bait for the homeless man seeking a boarding bouse. If you have NSTITUTE caus in many ways. You might take the tomatoe cans, fill them with soft, earth, and plant pansy seed in them, and by-and-by a whole handful of all sorts of weeds would come up. Then you could take the can to the pottery and have the potter cast a sice teracotta vase about it, so as to completely hide the can, and thus at a triling expuse, not over a few dollars, you could utilize your old tomato can as zarden vase. Or, you could take a lobs'er can and bore three holes at equal distances in the sides close to the opened end. Then cover the can as thickly as you need with the fine plastic material used in the manufacture of chesp statu ettes, and employ some good artist to fashion it in graceful and beautiful deigns. Then fasten it with bright brass chains in three holes and hang it to a book in the porch roof, and you will have a handsome hanging basket that nced not cost you more than five dollars. If you shoul I break a kerosene lamp erve the foot of it, and with a bit of red finnel and blue merino and some white erochet cotton make a pin cushion of it, stuffing the flannel and merino out in an irregularly shaped sphere, and with the crochet cotton work "LOor thE giV. Er.' on it. Then set it in the the spare room on the dresser, care being taken to have the cushion fastened cp so loose ly that it will cant a little to one side. Then, when the guest wakes up in the night and sees that awful apparition in the moonlight, he will couless all his sins, put on his clothes hindside foremost, and, dropping himself out of the window, will flee in terror into the wilderness and never come back to spoil your best pillow-shams with his bear'soily bead again. "It is't what you get," they say down in West Virginia, 'that makes you rich' it's what you save." A few cents saved here and there is household expenses are not noticed at the time, but by the end of the year they aggregate enough to pay the interest on a secondhand hoe; and if the newspaper in structions in domestic economy are faith fully followed out, the careful housekeeper will, in the course of a year, spend enough to pay for a steam thresh er.-[Western Farmer's Almanac.

If you suffer from general debility, brought on by too close application to business and excessive brain work; or from increasing prostration and sinking spells, that even a rest or removal of the cause will not relieve, make haste to do as did a reverend friend of ours. He secured from his druggist a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, having heard of its merit of a physician who told him not to take any other Bitters or Touic, for with the exception of Brown's Iron Bitters they all contained alcohol, and had falled to give his patients lasting relief: nor should he take any other preparation of Iron, for with the exception of Brown's Iron Bitters, they all blackened the teeth and ofton gave headache, which Brown's Iron Bitters never did but in fact cured headache. The effect was most satisfactory; he immediately realized wonderful results. His old energy returned, his natural force came back, and he felt himself altogether a new man, full of health, strength, and vigor, and he has continued to remain so ever since.
